A house with a mission

Publix - a unique Europe-wide house for journalism and society.

- At Publix, we find answers to societal and technological challenges in order to strengthen civil society and our democracy.
 - The media literacy of the 'editorial society' will be significantly improved.
 - The (investigative) reporting on democracy-relevant topics is strengthened.
 - Media diversity will be improved through investing in journalism for the common good.
 - Publix is a space for editorial offices, non-profit organizations, and individuals, who are dedicated to public interest journalism, strengthening social cohesion, and advocating for freedom of information and opinion (including in the digital space).
- Publix ensures and promotes/fosters good and safe working conditions for journalists and NGO's.
 - Our events and educational programs are designed to reach all of Germany – and our neighborhood in Berlin-Neukölln.
 - We offer spaces for small gatherings and large conferences. For podcasts and talk shows. We hold debates, share knowledge, and create media.

A house with a strong network

Publix brings together journalistic organizations, as well as educational and research initiatives. They have permanent workspaces in the building, organize events, and share their knowledge. They include, among others:

... and many more.

Video-, Podcast- and Recording Studio

In our video and recording studios, you can easily produce high-quality content. The technical equipment meets the high standards of professional productions. If needed, our studio staff will be happy to assist you with the technical aspects.

Video Studio

The spacious video studio is fully equipped with high-quality cameras, wireless microphone systems, and large-scale studio lighting. Directly adjacent are a control/makeup room and our post-production workstations.

Podcast Studio

Our large podcast studio enables high-quality recording of podcasts and interviews with multiple participants. Recording and editing can be carried out directly from the control room, which offers a clear view into the recording booth. Video podcasts and live streaming are also possible.
